

Facilities of Technical School to Be Available for U. S. World War Veterans

Lower Merion Board Votes to Sign Contract With Veterans Administration; Regular Tuition to Be Charged; Exhibit Wood Articles Being Sent to Hospitals

Facilities of the Lower Merion Technical School in Ardmore will be opened to veterans of the war, it was decided at a meeting of the Lower Merion School Board Monday night.

A request to use such facilities was received from U. S. Veterans Administration with offices in Philadelphia. The Veterans Administration will reimburse the Lower Merion School District for instruction given any veteran assigned to the Technical School, which adjoins the high school buildings on Montgomery Ave.

The School Board authorized their officers to sign contracts with officials of the Veterans Administration. The veterans will be charged the same tuition as other students from outside the School District. Costs will be fixed according to what additional teachers may be necessary to instruct the veterans.

Superintendent of Schools F. A. Dubois said it might be necessary to organize special classes. He told members of the Board that he did not expect any great number of veterans would be assigned to the Technical School until later in the year.

Another phase of aid for veterans was reported by Superintendent Dubois in displaying samples of articles made in the elementary and junior high school wood shops.

Articles on display included lap boards, traction splints, magazine holders, diet card holders, a correspondence writing pad to be used by a one-armed man, a cane and several types of games, in five-in-a-row, checkers, fox and geese and cribbage.

In addition to these the boys have made several book warrens and bed occupational tables.

Rapidly as they are finished the Red Cross picks them up and delivers them to hospitals.

The School Board has given the boys doing this work arm bands.

Nursing Receipts Totaled $2774.33

1280 Educational Visit Made During Past Year

Receipts totaling $2,774.33 were received for the nursing service provided for the Borough of Narberth by the Community Health and Civic Association last year.

The report, prepared by Miss Ada M. Berstichter, executive secretary of the Association, extends from December 1, 1942 to November 30, 1943.

The nursing service received $700 from the Borough of Health; $521.73 from the Narberth School Board; $114.34 for the health center committee; $463.88 from fees from patients and $974.38 contributed by the Welfare Federation of Philadelphia; the Red Cross and the Christian, Seal Sale.

During 1943 the nurses made 336 visits from which they received full pay; 37 visits from which they received part pay; 72 visits in which cost were covered by insurance; 57 free visits and 1280 visits in which there was no charge because of their educational nature.

The above report was submitted at a meeting of Narberth Board of Health on February.

HERE AND THERE

by BETSY-ANN

The "Ge Whis Club" meets Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Faith Farmer, Woodbury and Cleveland Avenues. You know "G" stands for girls and W-H-I-S for "with husbands in service." It's a fun, you can sew, knit, play bridge or just "chit" with someone when you can have fun.

Met Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stauffer, Durbin and Howards this week. They are old Narberthers, lived on Iona Avenue. Business interests took them to the Windy City, but now we hope to have them with us again. "Ted" their handsome son is stationed at Pensacola, Florida.

Ernest A. Bailey, Jr., 607 Essex Avenue, just received his wing pilot training on twin-engine bombers.

Remember Tommy Wright and "Little Grif" who used to soda jerk at Davis? Tommy is convalescing from diphtheria somewhere in Italy, a corporal, by the way. Grif is a first lieutenant on a Flying Fortress and has been on 17 bomber raids out of England!

Sometime when you are in the "village" between five and six in the afternoon, notice the number of small children who are sent to do last-minute shopping . . . and don't overlook the manner in which the officer on duty sees them to safety while crossing Haverford Avenue.

The Old Gang at the Fire House is certainly enjoying the new shuffle board! Drop in sometime and try your luck. "Auntie," Bill Weidmer, Peters, George . . . all the "Old Gang."

There are some pretty bits of chintz in a shop window on Narberth Avenue.

Some Sunday morning at eleven, drop into the chapel at Elmwood and Narberth Avenues. You will find a fine rehearsal for the man who addressed the church last week . . . enjoy some fine music . . . find peace for an hour in a troubled world.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

War Finance Committee

February 17, 1944.

To Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers: The Treasury Department and the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee acknowledge with gratitude, the splendid cooperation Pennsylvania newspapers have shown during the Fourth War Loan Drive just concluded.

It is an accepted fact that without the assistance rendered to the Drive by the newspapers of Pennsylvania, this State would not have reached the near billion dollar war loan goal.

At the present writing the State is "over the top" and sales made to individuals throughout the State for the remainder of this month are still to be added.

May we urge that there be no let up in your support of War Bond sales . . . it is a job that must be continued as long as our soldiers and sailors need the financial support of the home-front . . . until final Victory is won.

For the State Chairman: THEODORE A. SERRILL, State Director, Publicity.

Being Best Man at Brother's Wedding Cost Carfrey Job on L. M. Police Force

Standing up as best man at his brother's elopement wedding cost James Carfrey, 118 Coulter Ave., Ardmore, his job on the Lower Merion police force.

This was revealed last week when the report of the Lower Merion commissioners announced tersely that Carfrey had been dismissed for conduct unbecoming an officer.

His brother is Sergeant Harry Carfrey, 22, an armament gunnery instructor in the Air Corps. He is stationed at Lowry Field, Colorado, and was home on his second furlough in two years. He expects to go overseas soon.

The wedding was on February 1 and Carfrey had a hearing before the Lower Merion police committee on February 9. Before the committee Superintendent of Police Samuel Gearhart charged that Carfrey had violated Rule 3, Section 1, of the Code of Discipline. It reads:

"Disobedience to Orders, that is to say, if he disobeys or without good and sufficient cause omits or neglects to carry out any lawful order, written or otherwise."

For violating this rule the Code reads that the policeman "shall be punished by immediate removal, or by being required to resign forthwith or at such a date as may be ordered."

Carfrey's explanation of what happened is this:

That his brother and his had been dismissed Carfrey called up S. Edgar Downs of the Selective Service Board and asked that his name be called as soon as possible for service.

As soon as he learned that he had been dismissed Carfrey called up S. Edgar Downs of the Selective Service Board and asked that his name be called as soon as possible for service.

At their meeting February 16 in the American Legion Hall in Narberth, members of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club were told "How to Hunt Man" by William Weidmann, Narberth, a member of the Second Battalion, Fifth Marines (Infantry Raiders), who served at Guadalcanal and Tulagi, where he was among the first waves of United States infantrymen as they wiped out enemy positions.

"Hunting for game is quite tame," Weidmann said, "compared with hunting for something that also hunts you. And those sons of the Rising Sun, certainly employ all kinds of fair means and foul in their hunt for man."

Charles E. Spencer, Sr., of Upper Darby, president of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club, announced the following committee chairman during the meeting:

Refreshment—Walter P. Mieser, Narberth.

Rifle—Victor Sweet, Ardmore.

Vermin Control—Howell I. Dietrich, Upper Darby.

Way and Means—Frank Gorman, Ardmore Park.

Pistol—Walter Groff, Narberth.

Trapshooting—George M. Floyd, Narberth.

Salt Water—Earl F. Moore, Narberth.

Surf—Ernest Jenkins, Narberth.

Entertainment—John Albrecht, Narberth.

Membership—George A. Purring, Narberth.

Publicity—Mrs. Ellen A. Dietrich, Upper Darby.

Of special interest to the fishermen of the L. M. Rod and Gun Club was the announcement that

Tableau Dramatizes Work of Red Cross

A speaking tableau, describing and dramatizing Red Cross activities, is doing yeoman service in presenting the Red Cross case to women's clubs, religious organizations and other groups throughout the Main Line.

Arranged and directed by Mrs. Robie M. Evans, Main Line Branch chairman of public relations, the tableau has been presented several times in the past week and is booked heavily during the coming month.

Made up of a cast of 15 members of the Main Line Branch, the tableau demonstrates the Red Cross's services to the Armed Forces. Using both pantomime and art techniques, it is serving as a background for the forthcoming 1944 War Fund drive.

Absolve Ardmore Man of Blame

Commend Police at Inquest in Woman's Death

Lower Merion police were singled out for commendation by Montgomery County Coroner W. J. Rushong at an inquest held at the Court House Monday in the death of an Ardmore woman recently.

Coroner Rushong commended the Township officers both for the thorough investigation which had been made and for the excellent presentation of the evidence to the jury.

Patrolman Philip Minnis and Sergeant J. J. Mawhinney were the Lower Merion policemen who testified at the inquest in the death of Mrs. Emma Tice of Bledyn Road, Ardmore, who was struck by an automobile driven by David A. Storer, of Philadelphia, on Montgomery Ave., near Mill Creek Road, Ardmore, on February 6.

Storer was absolved of blame by the coroner's jury in connection with the death of Mrs. Tice. He stated that he was blinded by the lights of oncoming cars and did not see the woman until after his car struck her.

Mrs. Tice was examined at the scene by Dr. J. Howard Cloud, who testified that she died from the scene of the accident, and was taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

PRE-VIEW RALLIES ANNOUNCED BY RED CROSS AS CURTAIN OPENER FOR $510,000 FUND CAMPAIGN

Workers Will Receive Instructions Today At Ardmore Meeting; Juniors to Plaster Communities With Signs; Churches to Help

The Main Line Branch of the Red Cross, gearing up for the 1944 War Fund drive, will hold a meeting of workers February 25 and will take part in the Philadelphia rally Sunday afternoon at Convention Hall.

These events will emphasize the importance of reaching the $510,000 quota in the campaign that begins March 1.

Solicitors and leaders assembling at the Red Cross Center, Friday at 8 P. M. will learn motives of the largest fund effort in the branch's history.

War Fund Chairman Frederick W. Dreher—who last week underlined the difficulty by pointing out that the quota is $200,000 greater than last year—will preside at Friday's session.

Next day Main Line Motor Corpsmen and Red Cross Juniors will spend long hours plastering local communities with posters, flags and other reminders of the approaching campaign.

At the Philadelphia rally, the Main Line will observe Red Cross Sunday in local churches. The Rev. Walter Bruggeman, president of the Main Line Ministerial Association, has written to local clergymen requesting their participation through announcements and special decorations.

Farthest in the future, but looming largest on the local War Fund horizon is the Main Line's own campaign—launching a luncheon March 7, slated to begin at 12:15 P. M. at the Red Cross Center, the luncheon meeting will be addressed by Keynote Ramone S. Eaton, manager of the Eastern Region of the Red Cross.

Also announced this week was the addition of World War II veteran James Faux to the March 7 program. Veteran Faux, a 38-year-old resident of Johnstown, Pa., will be one of the speakers.

Faux, who joined the Army in 1926, was wounded in the invasion of North Africa when his Armored Division truck was hit by a local land mine, now convalescing in Valley Forge Hospital, he has been awarded the Purple Heart.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Oliver H. Bair's, Philadelphia, for Watson Malone, 19 Railroad Ave., Haverford, owner of Watson Malone and Sons, lumber firm, located at Pier 44, No. 14.

Mr. Malone, who died Sunday at his home, was 63. He was the third generation of his family to conduct the business which was established in 1854.

A graduate of Germantown Academy, of which he was a trustee, and the University of Pennsylvania, he was a director and former president of the Lumbermen's Exchange of Philadelphia, a director of the Kensington National Bank and the Pennsylvania Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance Co. He was a Mason and a member of the Germantown Cricket and the Racquet Clubs.

Mr. Malone is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anne Newell Malone; a daughter, Mrs. Charles P. Lohmann, of Penn Valley; a son, Watson Malone, 3d, of Wynnewood; his mother, Mrs. Bernard F. Malone, of Haverford; a sister, Mrs. Edward E. Chase, of Ardmore, and four grandchildren. Interment was in Laurel Hill Cemetery.
